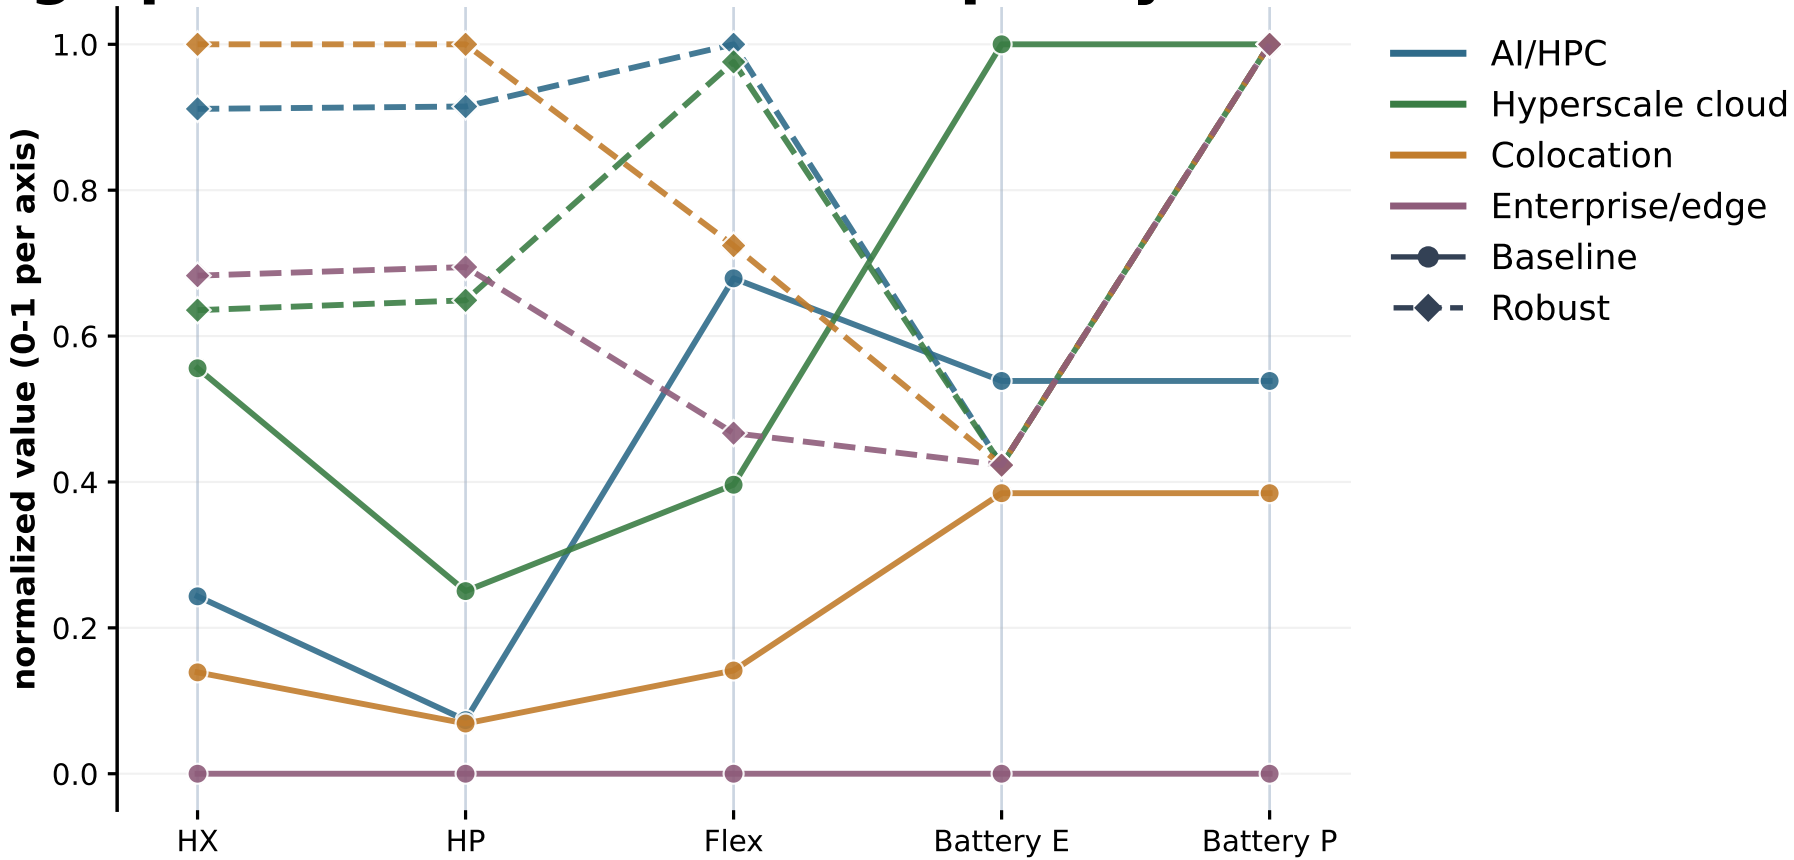
Design portfolio shift across capacity dimensions



The robust design is a different technology portfolio, not just a lower PUE setting: each axis is normalized independently so shape, not raw units, carries the comparison.